BUILDING OF ROAD IN BOROUGH'S HANDS

Prerogative of the Stockdale-Coal Center Highway Improvement Devolves On Stockdale, Roscoe, Elco, And Allen Township

OFFICIALS VISIT ROUTES

Location Engineer Crosby Stated That State Would Not Build Road On The Old Location — Believed That Councils Will Get Busy

The building of the Stockdale-Coal Center road is now up to the boroughs of Stockdale, Roscoe, Elco and Allen township.

On Saturday, Location Engineer Crosby, of Harrisburg, Division Engineer Jackson of Greensburg, and District Engineer Wayne Myers, of Washington, visited the proposed routes, and after looking them over Engineer Crosby, who has the last say as to the location of any road that is to be built by the State Highway Department, emphatically stated that the state "would not build the road on the old location." He gave as his reasons that the state was not building roads for the present, but were building for the future, and it would be folly to follow the old route. He stated however, that the state was ready and willing to build this highway and just as soon as the boroughs interested could secure a right-of-way the contract would be let. He was not insistent on the route as already surveyed, and stated that any route that would give them a proper width for the future would be approved.

A survey of a second route has been made by the department which would throw the road much nearer the railroad tracks in the boroughs of Roscoe and Stockdale. This route, however, would require the securing of a right-of-way through private property, and of course, would make the damages much higher than the old one. Judging from the expression of some of the councilmen who met the engineers Saturday, they will get busy at once and if possible have the right-of-way all cleared with the hope of having the road built to Roscoe at least before winter.

When asked as to the possibility of having the first section completed this soon, Engineer Crosby replied that he had some roads five miles long that he expected to have completed before winter and could see no reason why this section could not be constructed that soon.

WILL CONSIDER THE SMALLPOX SITUATION TONIGHT

This evening at 7 o'clock, in the Municipal building, the Charleroi Board of Health will meet in special session. The meeting is called by the president.

The session will consider the smallpox situation in its different phases. Charleroi people have no occasion, as yet, to be alarmed, account of the prevalence of the malady in Monessen; but it is to take the preliminary steps to protect our residents that the meeting is called, it is to be inferred.

Intentionally, too, it is presupposed that the board may order vaccinations; and to this end may order vaccine points. It is said that the burgess, the president of council, it may be doctors and other leading citizens of the town will be invited to be present.

PETTY THIEVES BUSY IN MONONGAHELA

During the past two weeks robberies have occurred almost nightly in the city of Monongahela.

It is opined that they are now likely ended with the arrest of Mrs. Annie Markus, half breed Indian fortune teller and her husband, Joe Markus, charged with violation of a city ordinance.

Markus and his wife have been living in a tent at the Monongahela Driving park for the past three weeks, and became a nuisance to the residents of that district.

The pair were arrested by Monongahela officers and had a hearing before an alderman, and later being released on their own recognizance, left the city.

No cases of great loss were reported, but many cellars were despoiled and robbed of fruits and vegetables. More than 10 homes were entered during the past two weeks, according to report.

Donora Man Is Badly Hurt In Accident

William Robtson, aged 69, of Donora, was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela Saturday evening in a serious condition suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg and loss of blood as a result of his being struck by a truck.

The driver, according to witnesses, to avoid running down two women who were crossing the street, drove the truck onto the pavement and struck Mr. Robtson, pinning him against a building before the machine could be stopped.

The injured man was taken to the Memorial hospital. His condition is said to be serious. The driver did not surrender at the police station, following the accident, and the minions of the law are looking for him, according to report.

Death Sentence Is Demanded By Prosecution

Criminal Court, Chicago, July 21.—In a dramatic gamble with the gallows, Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, millionaire youths, today pleaded guilty to the murder of Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy.

The action of the boys came like a crack of thunder to the crowded court room filled to overflowing by a huge staff of attorneys for both sides, members of the Leopold and Loeb families and hundreds of morbidly curious spectators who gained admission despite the efforts of a squad of 25 uniformed policemen and sheriff deputies.

Clarence Darrow, the premier lawyer of the criminal court, who is 57 years old, and has practiced law for 37 years in Chicago, entered the first plea for the boys. He stood erect with his shoulders thrown back, his voice increasing in volume as he spoke until he fairly shouted that the defendants had pleaded guilty.

Judge Caverly, after consulting with the State's Attorney, Robert E. Crow and Darrow, announced a hearing of the evidence in the case Wednesday morning, July 23. The hearing will be held by Judge Caverly and without a jury.

TWO COLORED MEN WILL FACE MORE CHARGES

According to the things being brought to light by the investigation being made, Robert Marshall and Willie Smith will have more than one charge to answer for when the day of reckoning comes.

It has been developed that Robert Marshall has been identified as one of the three negroes who held up and robbed N. E. Sterner, driver of a National Biscuit company truck of $170 on the Finleyville road on the night of July 3. Sterner identified the negro by the cuts on face and wrist.

According to Sterner, he was driving from Pittsburgh to Belle Vernon, when he was confronted by the three men driving a Chevrolet touring car, who escaped with $170 that he had on his person. A further connection with this story is that when the search was being made for Willie Smith, the night of the murder, throughout this entire section, the remains of a burned Chevrolet car were found back of Palmer Park bearing the license number 880-349, which showed signs of recent burning.

It was found that the license plates belong to a Buick car of Monongahela and had evidently been taken from that car.

WALTON'S BUBBLELAND CO. TO REMAIN AT PALACE

Due to popular demand, "Boots" Walton's Bubbleland Musical Comedy Company will be held over this week at the Palace Theatre, presenting two new bills of merit. The attraction for tonight will be "DARK TOWN POLITICS," one of the best comedies that has been presented by this most capable company. "Boots" Walton, who has been acclaimed as the best black-face comedian ever playing the Palace, will take the leading role, and with his meritorious supporting cast, the patrons may be assured of one of the best laughing shows of the season. The feature photoplay for tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday—"Behind the Curtain"—is one of the finest that has been booked. A special musical score has been arranged for the production, played by the Palace Orchestra, which will be augmented with additional musicians. There will be two complete changes of bill during the week, Monday and Thursday, with two special matinees, Wednesday and Saturday, at 2 o'clock.

Marshall Is Taken To County Seat Hospital

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, accompanied by Chief of Police James A. Murphy, Chief of County Detectives W. B. Dinsmore, Detectives Laird and Creig, Robert Marshall, of the slayers of Constable W. A. O. Cratty of North Charleroi, who was shot to death several nights ago while trying to arrest two negroes on the Charleroi-Monessen bridge, was removed to the Washington hospital, from the Charleroi-Monessen hospital in the local ambulance, driven by Ed Wilson.

Marshall is recovering from wounds inflicted by bullets fired by Constable Cratty, after the negroes had opened fire on him. William Smith, also of Monessen, who is believed to be the man who fired the fatal shot which caused Constable Cratty's death, is reported as showing continued improvement and it is probable that he will be taken to the Washington hospital today or tomorrow. A guard will be maintained over them.

Support For New Hospital Increases Under Able Leaders

That the movement to get a new and modern fireproof hospital at North Charleroi to serve this community and to replace the old Charleroi-Monessen hospital has bright prospects of being a success, is the opinion expressed by members of the executive committee and others of the campaign to raise money for a building fund.

Chairman Kerfoot W. Daly believes that it will be hard work to get the money for he says $150,000 or 200,000 is a great deal of money; but he went ahead to point out that being allowed five years to pay for subscriptions, he was unable to see why business men, professional men and others residents in the community should not subscribe to the limit and make the hospital building possible.

"This community has needed a new hospital for many years and waiting has not improved conditions in the least—in fact, they are getting worse," declared Harry W. Scott of Lock No. 4, a member of the hospital board, who went on to emphasize that the old building in which the hospital is housed was itself the biggest argument in favor of getting a new hospital.

"The time has gone by when we can expect people of this community to patronize our hospital as an institution of our community should be patronized," continued Mr. Scott.

"The people we have employed at the hospital may be doing all they can under the circumstances, but it stands to reason that the best nursing staff on earth could not give the best care to patients with equipment that we have in the dilapidated old frame residence that we have for a hospital. The people of this community have been very patient in putting up with this kind of a hospital. It is now time to unite our forces and go forward to another victory, a true spirit of achievement so characteristic of this community. The time for difference of opinion has passed; the time for action is here; and I am sure that when the opportunity is given to our citizens they will subscribe generously. That is the spirit of willingness and intention that I find everywhere."

This will be the second effort of a moment that has been started to secure a new hospital in recent years. Although several smaller attempts to raise money got as far as a meeting or two and some general agitation, only once, that in 1919, was any appreciable effort made to raise the money. Because the Charleroi-Monessen hospital serves the entire community the Charleroi people at that time did not go ahead and take the responsibility themselves to raise the money. Now, however, it is the feeling of the residents of Charleroi generally that the only way to get a hospital is for the citizens and business interests of this community to start the building fund with a substantial subscription of $150,000 and not wait for some good Samaritan philanthro-

Two Washington Italians Slash And Hack Each Other to the Extent That Both Are In Washington Hospital For Treatment

ENMITY OF LONG STANDING

Vendetta Thought to Have Originated In Italy. Believed to Have Been the Cause of the Battle — Impossible to Tell Last Night Extent of Wounds

Enmity of long standing, a vendetta thought to have originated in Italy, is believed to have been the cause of a bloody knife battle at the home of Carlo Farro, aged 45, 604 East Railroad street, Washington, at 10 o'clock last night in which Farro was terribly slashed as was his alleged assailant, Frederico Giovannone, aged about 25, of 184 East avenue, Washington.

Farro and Giovannone are both in the Washington hospital. It was impossible to tell last night just how serious their wounds would prove.

Bleeding from more than half a dozen slashes and gashed about the body, Farro was rushed to the hospital while the search for his alleged assailant was taken up by city and county officers. Chief County Detective William B. Dinsmore being notified of the duel.

So weakened from the loss of blood that he could not travel, Giovannone apparently crawled into the rear of a building just below the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in South Main street, at county seat, where he was found by Patrolman Clements of the Washington police. He was taken to the hospital.

Chief County Detective Dinsmore and Police Lieutenant Joseph Verderber questioned Farro and other Italians. One Italian said Giovannone and Farro came from the same town in Italy and that the former had just received a letter from home. It is believed to have contained information which resulted in his going to the Farro home last night and precipitating the fight.

THOUSANDS WITNESS THE PROLOGUE

Those back of the hospital project in the capacity of leadership by membership on the executive committee are unanimous in expressing their opinion that the only way for this community to get a hospital is for Charleroi to raise $150,000 of the building fund.

The progress of the city, it is stated, has been prominent in the history of enterprise and development of cities throughout western Pennsylvania. The city has banks, schools, stores, churches, and other institutions originally found in a progressive community, but no satisfactory hospital.

Chairman Daly announced this morning that the campaign executive committee would meet every day this week at noon for luncheon at the Elks club. The meeting today noon was reported as being satisfactory.

That the members of the executive committee have taken hold of the work with a determination to succeed. Chairman Daly also announced that he had added to the executive committee the names of B. F. Taylor, Allen C. Jones, T. G. Brown and Geo. T. Crosbie of Belle Vernon. The executive committee now consists of 51 men and women.

Criminal Court, Chicago, July 21.—Morbidly curious throngs stampeded the dimly lighted corridors of the Criminal Court building today, fighting for a chance to witness the prologue to the Leopold-Loeb murder trial, one of the most sensational cases in the history of crime.

Hundreds of people gained admission to the building itself. Other hundreds were lined up along the sidewalks hoping against hope they could enter. Court was not to enter until 10 o'clock, but at 8 a. m. fully 1,000 people were in line with thousands more expected to battle for a glimpse of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, millionaire youths, who confessed to killing Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy, "just for a thrill."

Today's session of court was called to hear preliminary motions of the chief defendants' counsel.

DEMARCO WILL MEET SILVERS IN GOTHAM; CONLON AT BRADDOCK

Cuddy DeMarco, after one of the longest layoffs in his career, is getting ready to start on his weekly program soon. Not having fought since he scored a decisive victory over Jack Bernstein, the lad Jack Zivic meets tomorrow night, in Hartford last month, Cuddy has signed for two bouts, one of which will mark his entry into New York big time. Joe Silvers, flashy Italian, who recently beat Edw. Paluso, has been signed to meet the Charleroi flash on July 28 at the Queensboro Stadium. Long Island City, N. Y., while DeMarco and Conlon, of Altoona, will renew their feud in a big show to be put on by the Braddock Elks at Edgar Thompson Park on August 15. DeMarco has been promised a return bout with Sid Terris, if he is able to gain the decision over Silvers next week.

Johnstown is stepping out in real style with a show they propose to put on on August 8, when Conlon will take on Ray Mitchell, of Philadelphia, who boxed Jack Zivic at Pittsburgh, for ten rounds. Young Penno and Buckroth Johnson will meet in the semi-final of the show.

Tony Ross, the Carnegie Italian, who meets Alex Simms at Canton on July 30, may try breaking into the lightweight elimination in New York if his manager, Tom Cain, is able to get him a bout there during the visit.

His week, Cain thinks that the mentioning of Alex Hart, Jack Bernstein, Charlie O'Connell, Mel Coogan and other entries the Carnegie kid to a chance to enter, if only for the purpose of getting work.

A cordial welcome of the Prince of Wales at the polo matches of the leadbrook Club on Long Island is estimable and to be expected, but there is room for no more published items about his surrender to the charms of a beautiful American girl. ROBINS OPEN SERIES IN PITTSBURGH; THIRD PLACE IS AT STAKE

The Giants have gone—if that means anything to a club fighting for third place. But even the departure of the club which they should have beaten four times gives little cause for great gobs of joy. Third place in the league means something now and means more than that at the end of the season, so when the Brooklyn Robins opens their five game series in the Smoky City this afternoon beginning with a double-header, there is likely to be just as much excitement as there was last week, although it will lack the color that only the Giants can put into a ball game.

This morning the Pirates are a half game in the lead for the third place notch and unless they can get away with two of the best hurlers in the league, "Dizzy" Vance and E. J. Grimes, this lead will be dissipated and may be not recovered during the series. Against this pair of aces Manages McKechnie plans shooting "Jughandle" Morrison in the first game, which will start at 2 o'clock and Ray Kremer in the second. Who will enter it either of these wobble is hard to surmise but there seems to be hurlers enough on the club right now to stop any club, if the move is made in time.

While the two pitching aces are the big thing with the Robins, there is another player, who is getting more than his share of the limelight right now, and that is Jacques Fournier, the slugging Frenchman, who is making an effort to overtake Babe Ruth in the race for home-run honors. Then there is our old friend Bill Doak, who will likely get a chance to show in his new livery before the series ends.

NEMACOLIN GOLFERS WIN FIRST OF THE CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

In the first match of three to determine the golf championship of Washington county among the women of the Washington County Golf and Country club, the Nemacolin Country club and the Monongahela Valley club, on the Washington club links Saturday afternoon, the Nemacolin golfers won handily with a total of 45 points, Nassau scoring. The Washington club team was second with 24 and Monongahela last with a scant 2. Led by Mrs. E. W. Stifel and Miss Mary E. Stifel of Wheeling, W. Va., the Nemacolin women showed marked superiority, although they were given a stiff battle by the Washington women most of the way through. The Monongahela Valley contestants failed to show to advantage, Miss McCracken and Mrs. Gunn each of whom secured one point, preventing their shutout. Seven of the eight Nemacolin contestants won the highest possible score of six points, defeating both their Washington and Monongahela opponents. The players went out in threesomes, best ball counting. The Washington club won the championship trophy last year with Nemacolin second and Monongahela third; Nemacolin won in 1922. The second round of matches will be played at the Nemacolin course on August 14. The scores:

First match—Mrs. E. W. Stifel, Nemacolin, 6; Miss McCracken, Monongahela, 1; Miss Florence Wrenshall, Washington, 2.

Second match—Miss Mary E. Stifel, Nemacolin, 6; Mrs. Faller, Monongahela, 0; Miss Emily Wrenshall, Washington, 3.

SWISSVALE PROVES

EASY; SCORE 14-2;

DONORA IS COMING

Swissvale proved easy; the team, it is said, or the one that played here, is a triple-link aggregation, and it only needed the watching of them practice to convince the fan that there was little class. It is reported that they defeated Irwin, but if they did, judging by the exhibition put up here, it reflects not to the credit of Irwin. The score was 14-2.

Beatty started the contest for the home club, but after twirling three innings, the Charleroi boys piling up a total of 10 runs to the visitors 2. Beatty retired to give Hines a chance. Hines was in good form, and none of the Swissvale players saw the home plate during the remainder of the contest. One of the features of the disinteresting contest was a home-run drive pulling by Hines with one on base, and the catch of a hard-hit fly to center by Anderson.

On Wednesday evening at 5:30 the Charleroi Athletic Club will be the attraction. The Athletics have made a good record for the season, and are sure to give Charleroi a stiff argument.

MISSISSIPPI'S DOGS TO LEAD DOGS' LIVES

Must Be Chained Five Months of the Year.

Jackson, Miss.—Unless law enforcement officers close their eyes or look the other way, a dog's life in Mississippi is a hard one. A new law enacted by the last legislature was signed unwittingly by Governor Whitfield.

For five months each year, from March 1 to August 1, all dogs must be chained and in addition must be chained to their kennels. The "pup" which heretofore has boasted that he wore no man's collar must wear one now for the law requires it and provides that the collar must carry a metal plate bearing the name and address of the owner. Another provision, effective January 1, 1925, is a tax of $1 per year on male and $2 on female canines.

The measure caused a rumpus in both the senate and house when it was under discussion and the atmosphere was highly charged as a result of the debate. The owners of 'coon dogs especially kicked against putting collars on their hunting companions while every dog lover joined vehemently in the protest against chaining them up for five months in the year and putting "bird cages" on their faces, as one member described the muzzle proposition. The bill, however, managed to slip through each house by a hair's breadth.

Governor Whitfield, sympathizing with the canine population had a veto ready, but in the jam at the conclusion of the session when he had to sign scores of new laws in batches, and sign them quickly, the dog law became mixed with those to be signed and he affixed his signature before he realized what it was.

Colony of New Haven Had First Blue Laws

In 1715 it was ordered by the general court that a suitable man be appointed to construct a code of laws for the New Haven colony. The appointment fell to Governor Eaton and he was instructed by the general court to study the laws of Massachusetts colony, and also the "Discourse on Civil Government in a New Plantation," by Reverend Minister Gorton, to aid him in his work.

Governor Eaton promptly issued a code of laws, many of which were from the Massachusetts code. Duty presented to the elders of correct jurisdiction, the fruit of the governor's toil was by them approved and passed, says the Detroit News. The general court, moreover, ordered 500 copies to be printed for the New Haven colonists.

At this period of history New Haven was an entirely different and separate colony from Connecticut, the latter being made up of the towns of Hartford, Windsor and Wethersfield and wild adjacent territory.

The term "blue laws," therefore, undoubtedly came from the fact that the first printed laws of either colony, being those of Governor Eaton, were enveloped in blue paper. So the code of Governor Eaton comprised the real and original blue laws and since these were enacted for New Haven colony it is further established that they should be called the "blue laws of New Haven colony" and not of Connecticut. The laws of other colonies were also used in constructing the code and many of them are at the present time upon the statute books of Connecticut. Many of the better laws of that state today are founded on them.

Monarch Bows Before Mayor of London City

All English towns cling to ancient traditions, ancient rights, some of which, of course, are maintained because of legal necessity, writes Temple Bouverie in World Traveler Magazine. The city of London always has been tenacious and jealous of its old rights. In the "good old days" the stout city fathers didn't hesitate to oppose, and fight if necessary, the king himself. Even nowadays, when the king visits "The City" (which is what you call "downtown," where the banks and the big traders hang up their hats) on days of ceremony he surrenders his sword—only by gesture, it is true—to the lord mayor of London, who meets him at Temple Bar. In days of old, when kings were bolder, the doughty bankers and merchants of "The City" weren't taking any chances and wouldn't stand for the king with armed men passing the gates that marked the city's frontier.

Today, the lord mayor, representing the ancient liberties and rights of his mighty city, is given the password of the Tower of London by the governor of the Tower under "the king's sign manual," which is to say that King George actually puts his "John Hancock" to the list of words making up the military password over a period of three months.

Freezing Eyeglasses

Since optical glasses cannot be cut unless they are fixed in an immovable position, it has been the practice to glue them to iron frames of various sizes and shapes. Until a few years ago the plates of glass, when finished, were knocked off the frames by means of a light mallet, the blow being delivered cautiously upon the edges of the plates. Naturally enough, this was a delicate and dangerous bit of work, and unless performed by the most expert of workmen, resulted, of course, in the injury of the lens. But the discovery was made that the blocks of crystal separated more readily when they had been exposed to a certain degree of cold. The result has been what might be called a revolution in the making of special glasses.—Washington Star.

Claim Columbus Landed on Island in Bahamas

The landing place of Christopher Columbus when he discovered America is on an island now known as Watling Island. Watling Island, in the Bahamas, is so called after one of the numerous intrepid British mariners who crossed the seas to acquire various lands and luxuries that did not naturally belong to them. Columbus, according to his journal as published by Las Casas, christened the island San Salvador immediately on landing, says the Detroit News.

The island was originally called Guanahani by the Arawak Indians, who inhabited it at the time of Columbus' discovery in 1492. The Arawaks are now extinct, except in certain parts of South America. They were not a fierce race, but pastoral people and fishermen at the time Columbus discovered them. The Caribs, who inhabited Jamaica, were cannibals, making continual war on their Arawak neighbors.

Whether San Salvador Island was the actual landing place of Columbus has been disputed for many years, owing to confusing statements in the Las Casas journal. But American and British research has established the fact that San Salvador is entitled to the honor of being the first landing place, for examination of the topography of Watling and its neighboring isles established its identity through the testimony of no less than the discoverer, who described the island on which he landed.

Tennessee's Broom Plant for Blind a Success

Nashville, Tenn.—The state of Tennessee employs seventy blind persons in the manufacture of brooms. The state's broom factory for the blind is located on property in the vicinity of the main state prison, at Nashville, and every employee, except the truck driver, engaged in this work is blind.

There are about fifteen women among the workers, and some have married blind men who are employed in the factory and reside in the factory settlement.

The industry has a capacity of 100 dozen brooms a day, is operated at a profit to the state under the supervision of the commissioner of institutions, and the employees are paid a living wage for their services.

The brooms are placed on the market alongside the products of other factories, and find ready sale. The industry also operates a rug weaving and a mattress-cleaning department, all of which affords an opportunity for making provision for many who otherwise would become wards of the state.

Heroine Carries Out Aged Woman in Fire

New York.—Mrs. George F. Neill, eighty, alone in her apartment on the top floor of a smoke-filled seven-story building at 49 West Fifty-seventh street, was brought to the street in safety when Mrs. Margaret Cummings, another tenant, ran the automatic elevator to Mrs. Neill's floor and carried the aged woman, half unconscious, into the fresh air.

Baseball games in Central park were deserted and hundreds of persons strolling along Fifth avenue rushed to the scene when fire apparatus arrived in response to two alarms.

While lines of hose were being run to the roof, a woman was seen calmly smoking a cigarette in a window of one of the lower apartments. She remained there undisturbed.

CHINESE SHIP FACES PIRATES AND MUTINY

Passengers on Board Tell of Sensational Events.

Seattle.—Mutiny on the high seas, typhoons and Chinese pirates were among the experiences which the last year allotted Fred N. Troup, first officer of the five-masted schooner Tseng Eal, flying the flag of the Chinese republic, has been docked here loading lumber.

Troup, whose home is at Puyallup, Wash., near Seattle, signed last summer as first officer on the American schooner Levi W. Ostrander. When her name was changed to Tseng Tai and Chinese took over the vessel, Troup became master.

On a voyage the schooner ran into a typhoon, which sent her fleeing for safety under bare masts.

On a second voyage to Foochow, the schooner touched at the port of Quanton. While it was lying at anchor, Chinese bandits appeared.

"The Danish chief mate and I were the only white men aboard," recalled Troup. "Each of us had an automatic. I fired 22 times. Some fell; I couldn't count how many."

"My Chinese crew of 25 were caught in their quarters and three were slain. We managed to get in a motorboat and escape."

Later they regained their ship, removing everything portable.

The Tseng Tai was refitted and held under the admiralty courts while salvage claims were contested. Under a new ownership Troup went to Puget sound with her as first officer. On the way the crew mutinied, but the trouble was quelled and the men responsible for it were put in irons to be delivered to the police at Vancouver, B. C.

70 Millions Under Ban of "Castes" in India

Boston.—Untouchability obtains in the most acute form in Kerala, popularly known as Malabar. In southern India. Here there are Nayadies, whose very sight will pollute a high-class Hindu; Farayas who have to stand at a distance of a furlong or more, and Pulayas of different grades, who have to stand at distances varying from 100 to 200 feet.

There are also numerous other castes, who have to keep different distances in respect of the different castes, and every one of these castes observes both untouchability and unapproachability in respect of one or more of the remaining castes, says a correspondent from Bombay.

Of late there has been a general awakening to the fact that India cannot rise in the scale of nations without the removal of untouchability, which places a ban on 70,000,000 of her people.

The problem is of great magnitude and does not admit of any easy solution, the evil being widespread and deep-seated. Some national workers have, however, addressed themselves to the removal of this iniquitous practice from Malabar, and recently convened a public meeting where a committee, known as the Kerala untouchability committee, was formed.

The United States Department of Justice reports that $100,000 a day is lost by investors in fraudulent stock schemes.

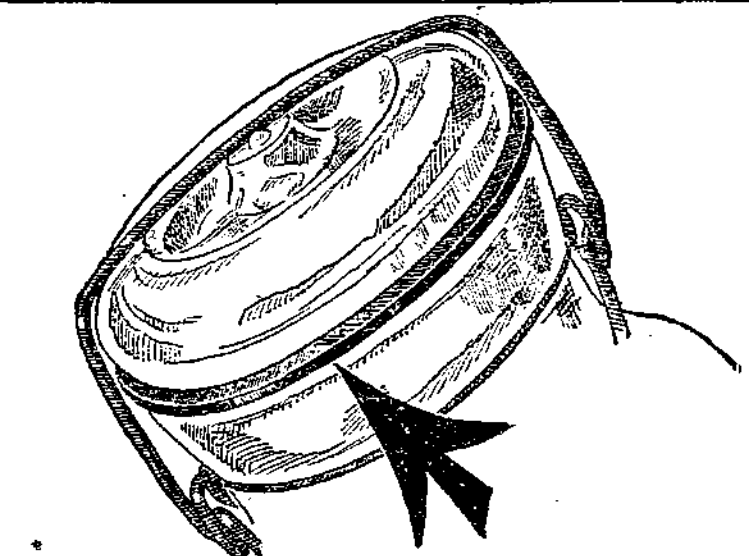

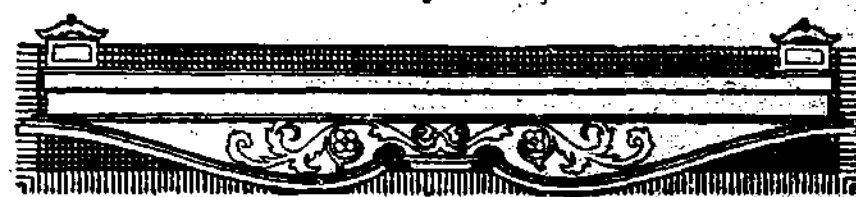

Such a staggering total would be unheard-of if every would-be investor would go calmly to his local banker and request the advice which he is equipped to give on the merits of proposed investments.

Such advice is available at this Institution to every resident who is interested in investments.

A perfect seal certain with these tested jar rubbers

ONLY a perfect seal will keep out the air with its greedy army of bacteria just waiting to creep in and ruin all your work!

Are you sure your jar rubbers will do the two important things which alone mean a safe seal for your pack?

Stretch and "set" are the two things every jar rubber must do. It must stretch enough to slip easily over the neck of the jar. Too much stretch robs it of its ability to snap back into place—to "set." Only a firm, close "set" will give you a perfect seal.

"U.S." Jar Rubbers come to you already tested for stretch and "set." They are made by the largest rubber organization in the world to withstand all the powerful forces which play upon them in actual use.

DECLINE OF SOCIALISM.

The Socialist party has resolution enough to oppose the Ku Klux Klan by name, but it has lost much of its numerical strength. Until recent times there was a Socialist party of considerable proportions in this country, just as there still is in England, France and other European countries. The Socialist vote in the United States grew from 94,768 in 1900 to 919,709 in 1920. But, during the last four years the organization has dwindled to such an extent that little is left of it, according to one of its members, the former editor of the party paper.

quoted as saying in regard to his party's decline:

"In 1912 there were 70 Socialist papers published in English in the United States and 31 in foreign languages. In 1923 there were not more than 20 Socialist weeklies published in English, and a dozen in foreign languages. This excludes the trade union and Communist weeklies, which Socialists have always ignored, except to attack and deride. In 1923 the Socialists were obliged to sell their building in Chicago where they maintained national headquarters and to move to a loft of modest capacity. In 1912 one hundred persons were on the payroll of the national office. In 1923 it has been reduced to five."

It is likely that the instinctive individualism of the American people made the United States an unpromising field from the outset, but perhaps the chief cause of this rapid decline is to be found in the disillusion following the scandalous methods and tragic consequences of the experiment which has plunged unshackled Russia into worse slavery and far greater unhappiness and suffering.

There is news of a book being written in Sing Sing by William H. Anderson, former Superintendent of the New York branch of the Anti-Saloon League, who was sentenced after being convicted of forgery. The book might appropriately be dedicated to "Mr. King." Mr. Anderson's benevolent friend of whose existence the court was so skeptical.

When President Coolidge raised the duty on wheat 12 cents the price dropped an equivalent within a day or two. When the recent news came that Canadian wheat was injured by dry weather the price of American wheat immediately began to go up. As a price booster tariff duty must yield the palm of drought.

One operator on the Chicago Board of Trade is said to have made $1,800,000 in the recent advance in the price of wheat and corn. A statement of what was made by all of the operators might cause great indignation in the rural Northwest, but the farmers have benefited too.

Those runaway Republican Senators may tie the hands of the Democrats of the Rhode Island legislature by preventing a quorum, but they are cutting a sorry figure before the country as well as bringing the law-making machinery of their State into contempt.

The report comes that La Follette is going to New York to "convert Wall street, and that John W. Davis is going West to take things up with the farmers. Though it may be difficult to get the farmer's ear, most observers will be of the opinion that Mr. Davis has chosen the easier task."

American women tourists in knickers have been turned back by blushing Mexican border-line guards at Mathamoras. Of course our State Department will be urged to request Mexico not to be so old-fashioned and try to climb up to date.

General Obregon has written a magazine article on the strategy of the World War, but we suspect that he could be both more interesting and authoritative on the subject of the influence of petroleum on international politics.

The American department store clerk who won the Marathon race at Paris must have been a "counter-imperialist" of some sort, for he came from the very outset.

What the World Is Doing

(As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

Heart Tester Helps in Liquor
Hunt among Luggage

With the aid of a stethoscope, used by physicians to detect disorders of the human heart, the chief of police of a

Minnesota city tests incoming and outgoing baggage for traces of gurgles that might reveal the presence of contraband liquors. With the receiving tubes adjusted to his ears and the sensitive diaphragm of the stethoscope held on the suspicious suitcase or bag, the official, by shaking the article, can detect quickly any sounds that might warrant a further investigation.

Over Hundred Million Living
in Electric-Lighted Homes

Electric lights are now used in the homes of approximately 111,000,000 persons, nearly six and one-half per cent of the world's population, according to a recent survey. In the United States, 39,- 000,000 persons enjoy the benefits of electric service in their homes, this country leading all others in the amount of electric power used each year. Japan is second, with 23,000,000 living in electrically lighted homes and Germany is third with 8,810,000. Seventy-five per cent of all people in New York have electric lights.

Speed of Great City Told
by Startling Figures

Statistics for the city of New York show that an immigrant arrives at that port every thirty seconds and an average of one arrest is made each two minutes.
A child is born every five minutes and a funeral occurs every seven. Every twelve minutes a marriage is performed and a divorce is granted for each six hours of the day. New businesses are started at the rate of one every forty minutes and a failure takes place every five hours.

A ship leaves the harbor every forty-five minutes and someone is killed by accident every fifty-five minutes. The crime records of the metropolis are startling in that they show that every seven hours there is an attempt to take some person's life, a suicide is committed each ten hours, and a murder occurs every twelve hours.

What Horse Can Pull Shown
by Tests in England

Tests made recently in England proved that a pair of horses, each weighing 1,600 pounds, could haul a load 550 pounds greater than themselves. On a metal track, one of these animals, it has been found, can pull a load of 11,000 pounds as much as on a good asphalt surface, five times as much as on cobblestone paving and twenty times the load it can pull on an ordinary mud road. For the usual type of farm horse, a cart carrying a weight of 1,500 pounds is considered to be a fair task. While pulling light vehicles and under saddle, records indicate that horses are equal to great feats of strength and endurance. A twenty-year-old beast, hitched to a light cart is known to have traveled a hundred miles in less than thirteen and a half hours and was in excellent condition at the end of its journey.

In many cases silent radio tubes are due to imperfect contact between the tube's prongs and the spring terminals of the socket. This trouble can readily be eliminated by bending the latter up a trifle to insure a good connection.

Saving Gas at Home

All fuel experts know that a fire several feet below the boiler shell will give much better results than a fire close under the shell. This fact induced a home owner to try out the idea, of the heat intensifier on a gas stove, as shown in the illustration. It consists of a strip of ordinary black stovepipe iron, about 3
in. wide and a couple of inches longer than three times the diameter of the hole in the grate, which will be about 20 in. in most cases. The ends are fastened together with rivets or small stove bolts and several notches are cut in one edge.
This ring is placed over the gas-burner holes, with the notched side up, and the cooking vessel is placed on top of the ring. A lighted match held near any one of the notches will light the gas when the tap is opened. The use of such a ring concentrates the heat under the vessel and consequently reduces the consumption of gas.

Well-seasoned wood serves excellently for radio panels, in the absence of more suitable material, if thoroughly dried.

Messages in Patches

The little black "patch" that was imported from France in the days of powdered wigs and brocaded gowns did more than draw attention to the beauty of the wearer.

Formerly ladies used to patch to convey messages to their courtiers.
For example, according to an old world book, a writer in London answers discovered recently, a patch on the left cheek bone meant to say: "I love you always," and one on the right cheek bone: "I have not quite decided yet."

A patch on midday's dainty chin represents love given to another, while a "message for you alone" was conveyed by a discreet beauty spot placed near the ear, and "no hope at all for you"
by a patch on the temple.

Quite a dainty language of love,
isn't it? Will it ever be revived?

Land by the Ounce

America's most expensive real estate, undoubtedly, is the soil of New York city. For instance—

The wife of a banker—the banker having lately been "called" to New York to join the staff of a New York bank—sought to light up the couple's apartment by growing a pot of flowers.
A friend had sent her some bulbs.
From a florist she bought a little pot
—price 25 cents.

"And now," she said to the florist,
"I'd like to have you fill the pot with some nice, rich soil."

"Lad," said the florist, "I can supply the soil, all right, but it'll cost you twice as much as the pot."

Only One Solar System

No other system resembling our solar system is known to exist. However, there are many double, some triple, and some quadruple stars; but unless the smaller members of such systems are more comparable in size to the sun than to Jupiter, we have no means of knowing of their existence. The smallest star whose mass is known with fair accuracy seems to be at least one-eighth as heavy as the sun, while Jupiter is less than a thousandth as heavy as the sun.

In Society's Realm

A birthday party was given in honor of Miss Sybil Riva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riva, at her home Friday, July 18. Games and music were the diversions of the evening. The honored guest received many pretty gifts. Luncheon was served by Miss Ena Riva.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss LaVera Parkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parkins of Roscoe to Walter Ansell of California, which took place at Morgantown, West Virginia in the month of March, and has been kept a secret from the friends and relatives since that time. The bride is a graduate of the Roscoe Public school and the California Normal. Last year she was a member of the faculty of the Roscoe schools and has been elected to teach in Roscoe the coming year. She is a young woman of excellent accomplishments and enjoys a large circle of friends. The groom is ahead of him and at present is employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

TRAIN KILLS 6-YEAR OLD BOY

Norman Gilkey, aged six years, who lived at West Elizabeth, was killed instantly Saturday morning at 1 o'clock, when he was run over by a train on the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania railroad at the Jefferson crossing, near Monongahela.

The child was on his way to a store opposite the track from his home and stepped onto the track without seeing the approaching train. The body was removed to the Elizabeth morgue.

"CHANGING HUSBANDS" AT COYLE THEATRE

The first picture of Paramount's Famous Four, "Changing Husbands" with Leatrice Joy, opens today at the Coyle theatre; also at two of Pittsburgh's leading theatres.

If we don't miss our guess then "Changing Husbands" the new Paramount picture, co-directed by Frank Uison and Paul Irlbe, which comes to the Coyle today for a three-day run, is going to create a good deal of discussion. Not altogether because of its intrinsic merit, either; although any screen play that features Leatrice Joy and an array of supporting talent which includes Victor Varconi, Raymond Griffith, Zasu Pitts and Julia Faye is bound to attract attention. We are thinking particularly of the story which Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin adapted from Elizabeth Alexander's Saturday Evening Post serial that ran under the title of "Dodge."

Can you imagine a happily married wife deliberately turning her back upon a loving husband and a luxurious home to seek a career on the stage? Don't you think the wife is going a little too far when she changes places with an actress who resembles her and in that way deceives her husband who unknowingly makes love to a woman engaged to another man? And that isn't the half of it! The other man falls in love with the attractive wife and—but what's the use of spoiling the picture for you? Better see it for yourself.

FIVE CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH IN A HOUSE FIRE

Franklin, Pa., July 21—Five children ranging in age from 7 months to 8 years, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the home of Fred Heddlin, of Vogan City, 10 miles from here early today.

Another child jumped from an upstairs window and was badly injured. The father of the children had just left for work and the mother was in the garden back of her home, when the fire broke out.

Clive of Oakland avenue for the past two weeks, spent the week-end with Mrs. Clyde Jenkins of Monongahela.

Alan Stevenson, Leslie Hazlett, Ralph Ackison and "Doc" Sheppard have returned to their homes after a seven day motor trip through Mt. Vernon, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York, Niagara Falls, Canada and Detroit. The boys report a very interesting trip, but admit that there is no place like Charleroi.

PREPARE FOR BIG BAZAAR

North Charleroi firemen purchased a new truck and new equipment coincident with the growth and future prospects of the borough to the north of us—one of us. The people appreciate the new truck and the new equipment, and they are going to have a chance to demonstrate that appreciation at a bazaar to be given July 31 to August 6, inclusive, Sunday excepted.

For the big occasion, Robert S. Coyle of the Coyle theatre, has donated the use of the Coyle field, and it is ahead, placarded with big signs, the pre-announcement of what is to take place in the form of amusement for the public.

Given favorable weather conditions, the forthcoming bazaar promises to be an amenity for the community in which the people will appreciate the form of amusement for the public.
